

The first half of this meeting will be about the global. Two speakers who attended the recent international climate negotiations in Bali, Indonesia, will give an account of what happened- what was good, what was bad and what needs to happen next.

The speakers are: Deepak Rughani of Biofuelwatch & Olive Heffernan of Nature's Climate Feedback blog

There will be a ten minute break, with tea and coffee, juice and biscuits. You can browse the stalls of various local campaigning groups.

The second hour will be intensely local. We will make a calendar of all coming climate-related events, brainstorm in small groups events that should happen, do “SWOT” analysis for each campaigning group, form new networks to tackle new challenges...

If this sort of thing doesn't float your boat, please don't stay away; come just for the first half, or 'sit out' the second; no-one is forced to participate!

As always, there will be a booklet produced
The meeting will be recorded and uploaded

Please bring a pen, your brains, your ideas and your comfiest shoes. And a £1.50 to help us cover costs.

Also, on Saturday March 1st there is a day of workshops and discussions in central Manchester. See mcf website for details.

The first half of this meeting will be about the global. Two speakers who attended the recent international climate negotiations in Bali, Indonesia, will give an account of what happened- what was good, what was bad and what needs to happen next.

The speakers are: Deepak Rughani of Biofuelwatch & Olive Heffernan of Nature's Climate Feedback blog

There will be a ten minute break, with tea and coffee, juice and biscuits. You can browse the stalls of various local campaigning groups.

The second hour will be intensely local. We will make a calendar of all coming climate-related events, brainstorm in small groups events that should happen, do “SWOT” analysis for each campaigning group, form new networks to tackle new challenges...

If this sort of thing doesn't float your boat, please don't stay away; come just for the first half, or 'sit out' the second; no-one is forced to participate!

As always, there will be a booklet produced
The meeting will be recorded and uploaded

Please bring a pen, your brains, your ideas and your comfiest shoes. And a £1.50 to help us cover costs.

Also, on Saturday March 1st there is a day of workshops and discussions in central Manchester. See mcf website for details.

The first half of this meeting will be about the global. Two speakers who attended the recent international climate negotiations in Bali, Indonesia, will give an account of what happened- what was good, what was bad and what needs to happen next.

The speakers are: Deepak Rughani of Biofuelwatch & Olive Heffernan of Nature's Climate Feedback blog

There will be a ten minute break, with tea and coffee, juice and biscuits. You can browse the stalls of various local campaigning groups.

The second hour will be intensely local. We will make a calendar of all coming climate-related events, brainstorm in small groups events that should happen, do “SWOT” analysis for each campaigning group, form new networks to tackle new challenges...

If this sort of thing doesn't float your boat, please don't stay away; come just for the first half, or 'sit out' the second; no-one is forced to participate!

As always, there will be a booklet produced
The meeting will be recorded and uploaded

Please bring a pen, your brains, your ideas and your comfiest shoes. And a £1.50 to help us cover costs.

Also, on Saturday March 1st there is a day of workshops and discussions in central Manchester. See mcf website for details.